Video - Rhinolaryngoscope OLYMPUS ENF - VH (Reconditioned)

Used,

Technical condition: very good,

Visual condition: very good,

Made in Japan,

Olympus ENT - VH is a video rhinolaryngoscope that provides high resolution imaging in a flexible endoscope with a small outer diameter, Despite its small diameter it illuminates a wide area providing a detailed image of all lesions in the field of view, which is particularly useful when observing with NBI,

Narrow band imaging (NBI) is an optical image enhancement technology that improves the visibility of vessels and other tissues on the mucosal surface. The technology exploits differences in the absorption and reflection properties of blood and tissues surrounding a blood vessel to facilitate imaging of capillaries that contrast with the surrounding mucosa,

It continuously captures images even before the pre-freeze button is pressed, and when it is used, the system automatically selects the sharpest image from the series of images,
