- NBVE 60N is a wall-mounted germicidal lamp intended for use in: operating, emergency, waiting and patient rooms, laboratories, pharmacies, nurseries, kindergartens,
- The lamp housing is made of acid-resistant sheet metal, which enhances the disinfecting properties and allows to keep the device clean,
- In the flow lamps, the mechanism of operation is based on special filters that clean the polluted air. After passing through the filter, the air is retained in the disinfection chamber, where it is exposed to UV-C radiation. It then leaves the chamber. A major advantage of the flow lamps is that they have no negative effects on the human body, hence both medical staff and patients can stay in the rooms where the lamps are operated,
